DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Graham-White House c. 1852 is a two story three bay by one room hall/parlor frame house with shorter two story two bay by one room kitchen wing on Bason's Run Road and midway between Rowlandsville and Liberty Grove. The house faces east with a north/south axis.

The main weatherboard frame rests on a fieldstone foundation and is covered by a seamed tin roof with extended eaves and sloped soffits.

The east (main) facade is symmetrically arranged around a central two panel door entrance with ogee molded inset. Six over six sash windows flank the doorway and three identical windows light the second floor. The central entrance bay is covered by a shed roof porch supported by square posts and a stick balustrade. Double arched corner brackets decorate each post.

The south gable end is primarily covered by a slightly shorter two story frame kitchen addition which is lighted by two 6/6 sash windows on the first floor of the east facade. Two four pane windows light the walls of the second floor. The rafter ends are covered by a slight boxed cornice. The roof is covered with composition tile shingles. The gable end of the wing has had a larger picture window cut through the first floor. The west side is primarily covered by a single story shed addition with four pane second floor windows. The west side of the main block is identically arranged with a central entrance. A first floor shed porch covers the entire first floor. A four panel door is flanked by 6/6 sash.

The north end has an exterior basement entrance, a single 6/6 first floor window and two four pane attic lights that flank the interior end brick chimney stack. An identical brick stack rises out of the south end.

The main hall is the southern of two rooms in the main block with an enclosed winder stair in the southeast corner. Beaded board partitions and door enclose the stair.

The adjacent fireplace retains its mid 19th century mantel which consists of a ogee molded surround that forms a slight pediment across the frieze. The shelf has a slightly beaded corner. The design of the mantel is identical to the Russell Farmhouse woodwork and is repoted to have been installed by the same craftsman, "Dutch Sam". The rest of the interior woodwork including the second floor follows along the same design.

A mid 19th century two story two bay by one room stable and storage building stands to the north of the main house. The frame is covered with weatherboard siding and illuminated by 6/6 sash windows. The medium sloped tin roof has extended eaves and sloped soffits.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Graham-White house is a traditional two story three bay by one room hall/parlor structure that has changed little, since its mid 19th century construction date. The builder, ^{"Dutch Sam"} although only known through local tradition, may be factual since two houses exhibit similar stylistic features.

The house was owned in the third quarter of the 19th century by a Mrs. Graham.
